"I mean, I know that right now your productivity must be enormous compared to your population, but the population is growing fast. You've got to start thinking about some kind of . . . system to regulate things. Your resources are only finite."Kath turned back from the night table, sat up to

sip some of the wine, then passed him the glass and snuggled back inside his arm. "I suppose we must seem very strange to you, Steve, being descended from machines and computers." She chuckled softly. "I bet there are lots of people on your ship who think we're really aliens. Do they think we walk like Lurch and talk in metallic, monotone voices?" body or pop me into a brand-new body identical to this one but with no imperfections. Anyway, that's "Nobody told me anything." to dart beneath the surface of their conversation, though it eluded her net. Utah night, four feet above the highway. in the dark, waiting for him to find them. Surprise. "Most of the day, yeah. Mrs. D is teaching me all about sex." "Thank you, Ms. Donella. You're as wonderful as I just knew you were when I first saw you." Jay sat at an empty booth while Colman collected two coffees from the counter, then inserted his Army pay-card into a slot. In a lot of ways Jay reminded Colman of himself when he was a lot younger. Colman had acquired his name from a professional couple who adopted him when he was eleven to provide company for their own son, Don, who was two years older. They hadn't wanted to disrupt their careers by having another child of their own. Colman's stepfather was a thermodynamics engineer involved with heat exchangers in magnetohydrodynamics systems, which accounted for Colman's early interest in technology. Although the Colmans had done their best to treat both boys equally, Steve resented Don's basic schooling and was jealous when Don went to college to study engineering, even though he himself had then been too young to do the same. The rebelliousness that had contributed to Steve's being placed in the home for wayward adolescents from which he had been adopted reappeared, resulting in his giving the couple some hard times, which upon reflection he felt bad about. For some reason that Steve didn't understand, he felt that if he could help Jay realize his potential and use the opportunities he had, it would make up for all that. Why, he didn't know, because nothing he did now could make any difference to the Colmans, who were probably old and gray somewhere, but he felt he owed it to them. People's minds worked like that. Minds could be very strange. Leilani was a pretty package of charm, intelligence, and cocky attitude that masked an aching. Old Yeller here to take a chunk of meat out of anyone who might try to do you wrong. Armley stopped in front of Colman and beckoned Hanlon over. "Sirocco wants you both back right away," he said breathlessly. "I'll take over at the gate. There's trouble. Racing away into the night, trying to outrun the screams and the guilt that they drill into him, the boy. "I hope so too," Kath said with feeling. "I ought to go now and see them off. Take care, Leon." chin, he takes inspiration from a movie: "The name's Old Yeller." shroud of gold and of purple. as though they had been abducted and then displaced in space or time by meddling extraterrestrials. "You mean by reputation, or something like that?" Lechat asked, beginning to look intrigued. "Oh, trouble now, trouble with a capital S-n-a-k-e. "It sounds like the first bluff anyone would try." her rage. She'd become a drinker because booze inflamed the anger, and for so long she'd cherished her. speaking a word to each other, they move on, away from the truck. CHAPTER NINETEEN. She pinches his cheek, and he senses that she would kiss it if she could crane her neck that far. The major's jaw quivered; his face colored. He could see the throat muscles of the troopers in the background tighten with frustration, but there was nothing for it. He had his orders. "On your way," he growled. "And don't think you've been so lucky," he warned as the Chironian walked away. "We've got your face taped. There'll be a next time." Adam excused himself from going out because he had some work to do, and Bobby and Susie had been looking forward to a musical comedy that was being given not far away that evening. Colman assumed that Kath would want to go with them, which would leave him flipping a coin over which show to see; but to his surprise she suggested a drink somewhere for the two of them instead. She explained, whispering, "Anyway, I've already seen it more times than I can count." So who was he to turn it down? Colman asked himself. But at the same time he couldn't avoid the sneaking feeling that it was all just a little bit strange. In the week following Lechat's brief term as Director, the laser link from Earth had brought news of the holocaust engulfing the whole planet. Then the signals had ceased, and for five years there had been nothing. No doubt many pockets of humanity had managed to survive, but mankind's first attempt to establish an advanced civilization had ended in failure - or almost in failure, for it had served its purpose; it had lifted humankind from its primitive, animal beginnings to a level where human, not animal, values could evolve, and it had hurled a seed of itself outward to take root, grow, and blossom at a distant star. And then it had died, as it had to. to squat. "You mean the way's clear right down to the Battle Module?" Colman asked. "This July third, just passed, made eighteen years." The rattletrap engine turned over on the first try. The other car had always needed coaxing. The. "That's my whole point," Bernard told them. "They're desperately needed mechanical respirator; the compressor motor rattled and expired. unoccupied. He settled into the booth farthest from the door. The truck rolls southwest into the night, with the twin fuses on the blacktop raveling longer in its wake. "There are some things which we must accept" the preacher thundered. couldn't be ignored any more than you could ignore an asteroid the size of Texas hurtling at Earth with. but then diminishes and fades entirely away. until she saw what had come in the container. "On the contrary, Mr. Stern, they understand the same language that people everywhere speak," Chester said. "We will deal with them in the same way that we have already dealt with you." is a possible fate that he envisions for himself too clearly to embrace fully the traditional boys'-book spirit. "Am I supposed to feel that way?" Micky and Mrs. D tried to delay Leilani's departure. They were afraid for her. They worried that her. The suggestion was too extraordinary for Lechat to respond instantly. He looked from Pernak to Eve and back again, then laid his fork on his plate and sat back to digest the information. The prednct outside was full of people wasting the evening while trying to figure out what to do with it, when Colman and Anita emerged from the Bowry and turned to follow the others, who were already some distance ahead. Anita stopped to fish for something in her pocketbook, and Colman slowed to a halt to wait. The touch of her hand resting on his arm in the bar had been stimulating, and the faint whiff of perfume he had caught when she leaned forward to pick up her glass, tantalizing. What the hell? he thought. She's not a kid. A guy needed a break now and again after twenty years of being cooped up in a spaceship. okay? She had settled in a chair at a nearby writing desk. Opening her small purse, extracting a checkbook. "No ..." Colman shook his head distantly. "It's too much to go into right now. Look-". She had turned out to be a very shapely redhead by the name of Veronica, and she lived in an apartment in the Baltimore module. In fact her face was not unfamiliar, but before then Colman hadn't known who she was. She had seemed as intrigued by Colman as he by her when they talked by the bar earlier in the evening. "Sure, I've been there," he had told her in reply to a question that she had asked with a devilish twinkle in her eye. "There aren't many places you don't get to visit sooner or later in twenty years." "What about the sentries?" Sirocco asked curtly. contains the toilet. He enters, switching on the light in there, and pulls the door shut behind him. "I try," Geneva said, "but my mind spins around it till I feel like something inside my
